In this situation, you can turn to specialized software, as this is the easiest way to achieve satisfactory results. NeverStopYT is one of the apps mentioned above. Play YouTube videos continuously This application can help you enjoy YouTube content without playback gaps. You might be familiar with YouTube's "Autoplay" system that pauses for a few seconds before actually loading the next video, in case you change your mind or want to replay the current track, which can be annoying at times. NeverStopYT not only removes the delay before loading a video, but it also crossfades between tracks, so the transition is smooth and playback becomes lossless. Keep in mind that this tool was designed especially for users that like to listen to music on YouTube. Using it to crossfade between videos can cut some intro/outro parts. Occasional crashes Since this app is in its Alpha state, you might encounter some crashes every now and then, or even encounter certain error pop-ups that can be safely ignored. During our tests, it even happened that the track would suddenly rewind to its starting point. However, it offers you some additional features, such as generating playlists based on your selection, browsing other videos without stopping the playback (by pressing the large "YouTube" button in the bottom right corner 1d6a3396d6
